

Going for gold: Libratone announces TRACK Air+ SE to celebrate 10 years of freeing the sound.

Updated state-of-the-art features and an elegant black and gold design emphasise Libratone's audio and design credentials.

COPENHAGEN, 11th February 2020: To celebrate 10 years of wireless audio innovation, Libratone has launched a Special Edition version of their award-winning TRACK Air+ true wireless earbuds. TRACK Air+ SE come with additional features and a striking black and gold design. Available exclusively via Libratone's own recently relaunched website, the earbuds are available now for £215. As an additional 10th birthday treat, Libratone is also gifting a COIL wireless charging plate worth £35 with every pair of earbuds.

At a feather-light 5.6g per earbud, the small but mighty TRACK Air+ SE are crammed with all the great, industry leading features of the original noise cancelling earbuds. In addition to some new bonus features that make the SE Libratone's most intuitive headphones yet.

TRACK Air+ smart noise cancelling, already blocks out up to 30dB of noise. In the Special Edition version this has been enhanced to include additional technology to block out wind noise. Add to this the earbuds sweat and splash-proof design (IPX4) and they are always ready for action.

The Special Edition feature double and triple tap functions as standard. Users can customise the touch controls to their own personal preferences - including volume control, skipping tracks or adjusting the ANC.

With triple-mics for clear calls, wear detect function and 24 hours of battery time, the earbuds deliver an audio experience at the highest level. And when not in use, they are safely stored in a scratch-resistant wireless charging case.

Libratone TRACK Air+ SE are on sale now. For more information visit Libratone.com.
